SERVING THE COMMUNITY SINCE 1980

Vol. 41 No. 24 • Wasco, California • Thursday, January 24, 2019

Richard and Amy Woody serve the communities of Shafter, Wasco and Arvin.

Serving the community

Peters Funeral Home In 3rd generation

JAMIE STEWART
Wasco Tribune

Generations of local families have relied on Peters Funeral Home to help them honor and celebrate their loved ones in a heartfelt way.

After purchasing the Agee Funeral Home in Shafter in 1973, and Jones Funeral Home in Wasco in 1975, Clarence and Martha Peters established a tradition of personal service, maintained with honesty, integrity and small-town care. The business expanded to Arvin in 1995 by acquiring Sams & Sons Mortuary.

Peters Funeral Home has been a mainstay in these communities for decades, and the rich tradition and history is continuing with a third generation. Richard and Amy Woody purchased the family business from his parents, Rick and Cheryl Woody, last year, and have taken the funeral homes to the next level of service with new technology.

Richard Woody studied mortuary science at Cypress College and completed the program with honors in 2004. While attending Cypress, he was awarded the C.K. Humanitarian award as well as the Harriet J. Davey award for excellence in embalming. Woody is a licensed funeral director, embalmer and funeral insurance professional. He also sits on the board for the California Funeral Directors Association and is the vice chairman of the Legislative Committee.

Woody is very proud of the legacy that has been built

Water to cost city millions

New standards, old infrastructure

TONI DEROSA
WASCO TRIBUNE

Meeting the state's tighter standards for chemicals in drinking water and repairing an aging system is going to cost Wasco – initially about $750,000 and in the future $8 million to $10 million.

Because the state set new drinking water standards in 2018, and in order for the city to meet those new standards, it is in the process of installing treatment facilities next to existing well sites.

“There are five (I don't know how many there are will get Wed morn) wells located within the city,” said City Manager Daniel Ortiz-Hernandez.

At the last week's meeting, the city authorized payment of $734,531 to Bakersfield Well and Pump to drill a replacement for Well #5 (at the northwest corner of 8th and G streets), and as a result of the Jan. 17 special meeting, the city council approved $50,631 to pay for repairs on Well #10.

“The city's wells are out of compliance with state-mandated 1,2,3 TCP treatment levels in the water,” said Acting Public Works Director Jeremy Bowman. “The amounts that we are out of compliance varies by well. We are between 6 and 8 parts per 100 billion, whereas the legal limit is 5 parts

“The majority of funding is coming from a settlement from those responsible for the contamination, from Dow Chemical Company and Shell Oil Company, et al,”

Newly elected councilmember John Pallares shared parts of his first out-of-town training experience with his Facebook friends as he traveled to Sacramento for what he thought was going to be a weekend training with colleagues; however, he went alone as his colleagues were ill and unable to attend.

Pallares was attending the New Mayors and Council Members Academy by the League of California Cities, of which Wasco is a member. Pallares said that he livestreamed his journey for those in Wasco who might not have the opportunity to visit Sacramento to see some of the sights of our Capital.

His hotel was about a block away from

Young entrepreneur opens Black Comb

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

Entrepreneurs are usually courageous, independent, passionate and driven. However, when you are also a young mother, you are often looking for a way to pursue your passion while making it possible to spend more time with your family.

That is what Lizbeth Garcia of The Black Comb said when asked why she started her own business. “I was working two jobs, six days out of the week,” she said. “I didn't have enough time to spend with my kids, so I decided to do something where I can have my kids around me.” Garcia completed Marinello's School of Beauty and hasn't looked back.

“The salon opened in April 2018,” Garcia said. “Within the first two months, it was broken into, and all of my equipment was stolen.” Garcia said she contacted the Wasco Sheriff's Department substation; however, nothing has been recovered or returned.

Despite that setback, Garcia keeps a positive attitude about her shop. “I am looking forward to hiring additional stylists in the near future.” The interior of The Black Comb is sleek and modern with nicely furnished, black stations ready for

The last cowboy in Wasco

TONI DEROSA

Wasco Tribune

Webster's dictionary defines a Western U.S. cowboy as one who herds and tends cattle, performs his job on horseback, works on a ranch and exhibits skills such as roping and performing in rodeos.

That's Benny McLeod. A true cowboy needs a good sidekick, and Benny found his in Betty Graves at Wasco High. "Even though some said it wouldn't last," said Betty. "We've been married for 69 years."

Benny was born in 1930 at the long-gone Pixley Ranch north of Highway 46, on Palm Avenue. His cousin, Jimmy Hancock, lived right next door, and according to Benny, the two of them were quite a pair of characters. Whatever one didn't think of, the other did.

Benny was happy he was born and raised in Wasco and was able to attend all Wasco schools. Betty made her way to Wasco by way of the Dust Bowl migration from Paragould, Ark., as her family followed the crops and moved around. They were able to settle in the area, and Betty attended Shafter High for two years and finished school at Wasco High.

The two had their first date after Betty's graduation party. She then left Wasco and studied at Woodbury College in Los Angeles for a while, but because she and Benny had just started dating, she moved back to Wasco. They married, and the story is still continuing as they anticipate celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary Aug. 7.

As Benny reflected back on his school years, he was proud to have lettered in basketball four years and in baseball two years. "I still have my letters, but I don't know where the jackets are," he laughed.

At the time, he was an active member of the Future Farmers of America and served as its president one semester. He raised show steers, swine and sheep, and showed them at shows throughout the year. He then sold some at the Los Angeles stockyard. He had been roping since he was in his teens.

Benny was with a buddy when he recalled meeting actress Dale Evans, Roy Rogers' future wife, at a rodeo. She asked Benny, "Why is this pig's tail curling to the right and that tail curling to the left?" Benny and his friend were confounded by the question. He also had no clue who Dale Evans was.

Benny began riding horses when he was 10 years old and began roping steers at 14. He spent a lot of time at rodeos. "I limited myself to 200 miles both ways," he said. "I never went into professional roping, just 'jackpot' rodeos in team roping and amateur stuff. There used to be two or three roping clubs in Bakersfield and one in Wasco."

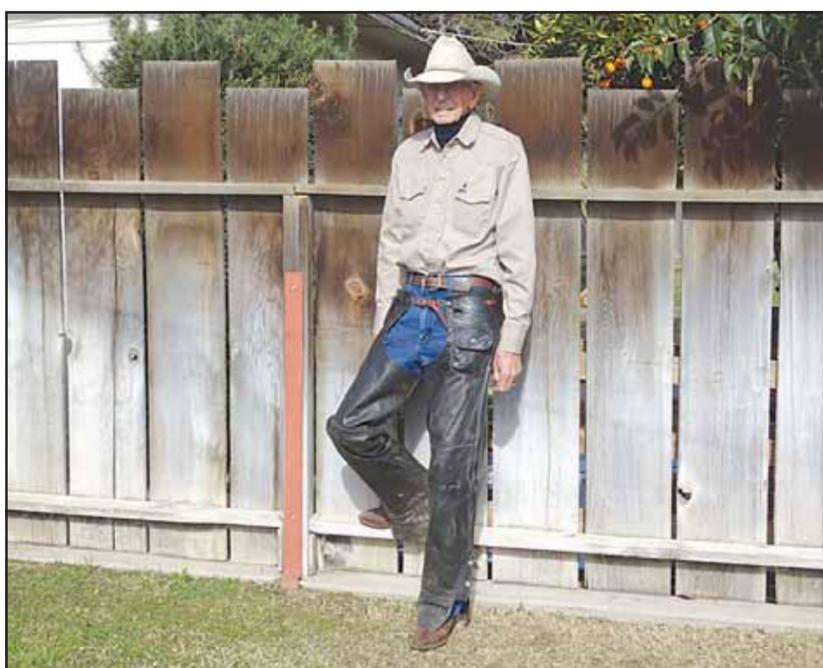

Benny said that he roped in Buttonwillow most of the time.

Beginning in 1958, Benny leased land with partners to run cattle. The cattle grazed on the land, which was located east of Porterville and Ducor.

Benny remembered back in 1962 when he won a silver and gold belt buckle for team roping and in 1966 when he won a saddle. "I still have the saddle," he said.

While explaining how roping is done, he explained, "Roping is a team sport where one person ropes the horns and is called the header after which another one ropes the back feet and is called the heeler." He said there are more headers than there are heelers available. For many years as a roper, Benny partnered with Eddie Gafner. Betty shared that at one time she made Benny and Eddie red vests so they matched, and people would know they were a team.

About a year and a half ago, Benny sold all his horses and tack – the gear used on a horse such as saddle, bridle, martingale, etc. "I still have some equipment," he said. "I kept two saddles. Saddles can weigh 52 pounds each, and they have to be thrown over the horse before mounting, so they are heavy."

From 2000 to 2017, Benny reopened the Frank Gafner stables. Now it's called Horse and Mule Barn Stables. Benny managed the stables until his eyesight gave out.

"About six years ago, I got bucked off," he said. "The horse was a Hancock breed, and they are known for being crazy. I was trying to tame the horse for a friend."

While managing the stables, he continued roping but brought in a professional for shodding (shoeing) the horses.

While Benny was roping and working property, Betty returned to Bakersfield College and received her associate degree in accounting. She worked for E.J. Peters – Maple Leaf Co. for about 3½ years. After a 10-year break to raise their children, Betty returned to work for Nikkel Iron

An ostrich egg that Benny McLeod's grandson painted.

Works in Shafter for 3½ years and for Hollis Roberts Farms for 19 years, until she retired.

She noted that retired life is moving quickly for them. "It's not against the law to get old, but boy, it is inconvenient!" she said.

VFW does it again: Pancakes for 275

TONI DEROSA

A surprise visit from newly elected Congressman T.J. Cox highlighted Wasco VFW Post's January pancake breakfast on Saturday.

Congressman Cox sat with local residents and listened to their comments and answered their questions. Many just stopped by to congratulate him on his recent win.

"I was honored to speak with the Wasco VFW this past weekend. Washington could learn more from our veterans' stories of sacrifice, citizenship and courage. I look forward to working with veterans across the Central Valley to improve care for our nation's heroes," said Rep. Cox.

Post Commander Danny Rueda and Vice Commander James Medrano, Sr. began the day before 6:30 a.m. as they welcomed and organized new Walmart volunteers. Walmart and Rueda had recently been in talks about involving employees as volunteers. An agreement was reached where Walmart would pay the VFW $500 for every 20 hours employees volunteer for the VFW. Walmart supplied 15 volunteers to help with the breakfast; most of them worked the event from 6:30-11:30 a.m. They cooked, cleaned, helped serve and greeted guests as they arrived.

"To cook breakfast for about 275 people, it took 75 dozen eggs, 60 pounds of pancake mix, 75 pounds of bacon, 3 boxes of butter, 7 bottles of syrup and 300 orange juice and milk boxes," said Rueda. "At various times, the dining room was packed with people either coming in and picking up an order or sitting down to relax and enjoy their breakfast."

Those in attendance enjoyed breakfast with their friends, while many ticketholders rushed in and carried out their food. "I would say about 40 percent picked up their breakfast," said Rueda. "This place was so packed at certain times, there wasn't room to sit."

Several people complimented the VFW for serving a good breakfast. "It was a wonderful breakfast," said Councilmember John Pallares. "I am impressed that the VFW consistently sends the money back into the community with the flag programs, sponsoring a candidate for the pageant, etc."

Since Rep. Cox was present, Rueda took a moment to recognize the Volunteer for Law Enforcement of the Year recipient Lionel Lopez, Jr., and presented him with his certificate of appreciation.

 the Hyatt Regency, so he was able to do some walking to and from his hotel. He added some humor to his live streaming by bringing along a stuffed companion with him. His companion resembled the monkey from the Curious George books. This companion showed up at various spots during his live streaming and added some humor to the broadcast. Viewers suggested the name Curious George to Pallares, but he said he didn't have name for it.

His days started early, and he shared his daily schedules, which included workshops on the Brown Act, sexual harassment and ethics. Pallares said the two workshops he was most interested in were the Brown Act and Ethics. "If I call a council member, and we talk about a particular city-related subject, and I then call another council member to talk about the same city-related subject, that is a violation of the Brown Act even though we aren't together talking in the same room."

Pallares said his eyes were opened to a lot of important issues regarding the Brown Act. "What can be illegal is surprising," he said.

The ethics portion was interesting to Pallares because ethics are very important to him. "I want to do things for the right reasons," he said.

For the most part, Pallares enjoyed the training, but there was one thing that prevented it from being a complete success, "I was really frustrated when people at my table were talking while the speaker was talking," he said. "I had to move from one table to another in order to listen to the presentation."

"These trainings are great networking opportunities to meet other newbies/veterans who can always be a resource when we need them the most," said Mayor Alex Garcia. "We have to do these trainings every per trillion. The state lowered the compliance rate in 2018."

At the Dec. 18 meeting, Bowman stated that the TCP improvements include purchasing property next to the existing wells; engineering is expected to cost $8 million to $10 million. The four properties discussed in the Jan. 21 meeting are located next to wells and will be used for treatment facilities.

"The majority of funding is coming from a settlement from those responsible for the contamination, from Dow Chemical Company and Shell Oil Company, et al," Bowman said. "Additional funding will come from water reserve funds."

On another topic, the council did not take action on the revised ordinance about code enforcement officers reporting directly to the sheriff's office on illegal waste dumpers. An audience member expressed her concern about the safety of the use of the video surveillance equipment, indicating she was afraid not knowing who exactly would be able to use the equipment. She wanted assurance it would only be used for illegal dumpers and not anyone else.

The council moved to delay implementation of the ordinance until March, when Planning Director Roger Mobley is able to integrate safety and privacy into the final law.

The council did approve an ordinance allowing and regulating sidewalk vending, also following up on state regulations.

The council recognized Sheriff's Deputies Sgt. Augustin Moreno and Juan Maldonado for their work with the Sheriff's Activities League, known as SAL. Deputy Maldonado presented a slide show about the activities SAL kids are involved in.

In a separate report, Deputy Maldonado also advised the council that the KCSO would be running another saturation patrol to make their presence known.

Finally, the council formally appointed resident Scott Hight to fill one of the two open Planning Commission seats.

Peters Funeral Home has been helping residents celebrate the lives of their loved ones for decades.

"We love the communities that we serve and work very hard to keep those wonderful relationships that have been built over the years," he said.

HOW TO ADVERTISE EFFECTIVELY AND ECONOMICALLY

Our sales representatives are pleased to help you compose the most effective ad at a minimum cost. Here are two key points to remember about your ads:

1. If it's an item you're selling, remember to include as much information as possible. The more potential buyers know about the item you have for sale, the more interest they have in calling you.

2. Our reputation for Classified Advertising results is excellent. But not every potential buyer will read your ad on the same day. The majority of our private party advertisers take advantage of our discount rates. This simply means that you order your ad for two consecutive issues, but should you get the results you desire before the ad has expired, you may call and cancel the ad and be refunded for the days the ad did not appear. Except for GR -- no refunds or changes accepted.

COPY ACCEPTANCE

The Shafter Press and Wasco Tribune reserves the right to revise, reclassify, edit, reject or cancel any ad at any time for any reason.

DEADLINES

For Private Party Advertisers to order, correct or cancel an ad, the deadline for The Shafter Press and Wasco Tribune is NOON FRIDAY.

GENERAL POLICY

1. Rates and deadlines subject to change without notice.

2. The Shafter Press and Wasco Tribune make every effort to avoid errors in advertisements. Each ad is carefully read back for approval. However, mistakes sometimes slip through.

We ask that you check your ad carefully. If you should find an error, report it to the Classified Department right away by calling 661-292-5100 and asking for Classified. We regret that we cannot be responsible for more than one incorrect publication if you do not call the error to our attention. The Shafter Press and Wasco Tribune cannot be liable for an amount greater than the amount paid for such advertising.

UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. MORTGAGE LENDER SERVICES, INC. as the duly appointed Trustee WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States, by cash, a cashier's check drawn by a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state) all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust, described as follows: Trustor(s): JOHNNY MENCHACA Deed of Trust: recorded on 02/14/2003 as Document No. 0203028770 of official records in the Office of the Recorder of KERN County, California, Date of Trustee's Sale: 02/06/2019 at 10:00AM Trustee's Sale Location: On the front steps of the City Hall South building at 1501 Truxtun Ave, Bakersfield, CA 93301 The property situated in said County, California describing the land therein: AS MORE FULLY DESCRIBED IN SAID DEED OF TRUST The property heretofore described is being sold "as is". The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 769 MOSCATO STREET, MCFARLAND, CA 93250. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, estimated fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $111,529.73 (Estimated). Accrued interest and additional advances, if any, will increase this figure prior to sale. The Beneficiary may elect to bid less than the full credit bid. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located and more than three months have elapsed since such recordation. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this Internet Web site www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 130394-11. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. THE ESTIMATED OPENING BID AT THE TIME OF THE INITIAL SALE DATE WILL BE MAXIMUM DEBT PLUS FORECLOSURE FEES. THE ESTIMATED MARKET VALUE IS $190,000.00.
