Kern County Fair smaller than usual but back in action

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

Although there weren't as many exhibitors or visitors to the Kern County Fair, the fair was back in action this year.

The fair began last week and was closed Monday, Sept. 27 and Tuesday, Sept. 28 for cleaning and sanitizing. The livestock area was in full operation during this shut down.

Because of the poor air quality on Friday and Saturday, attendees walked around with a smoky smell in the air and particles floating in front of fairgoers' faces.

There were several differences between previous Kern County Fairs and the 2021 fair.

The first noticeable difference was there was a lot of available parking in the main parking lot off P Street. Only the first seven or eight rows were filled with vehicles.

People wore their masks as they entered;

Local veterans take the trip of a lifetime

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

Two local veterans joined about 170 other veterans on a recent Honor Flight to the nation's capitol, where they took in all of the memorials and monuments, and likely garnered memories that will last a lifetime.

John Enns and Bob Reeves spent Sept. 14-16 in Washington, D.C., visiting landmarks that they had thought they might never see. "This was an amazing trip, one that I will never forget," said Reeves, who served in the United States Navy in the 50s and the 60s. Reeves served in the Korean War and the Vietnam

SHAFter

War. He was on a troop transport ship stationed in Japan that would carry soldiers on their R&R trips.

Reeves was accompanied on the trip by guardian Art Soliz. The trip was free for the veterans, with a charge for the guardians. "But it was well worth it," said Stacy Enns, guardian for John Enns on the trip. "It was amazing to see how big the memorials are," said Stacy Enns. "I loved every part of the trip. It was so well organized and we had a chance to see so much in such a short amount of time."

Richland talks about heroes, new techniques

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

The Richland School District has been working to enrich their students' lives and educational experiences by teaching them new techniques, as well as keeping the tried and true ways that students learn.

SHAFter

Recently, in Mrs. Buenostro's classroom at Redwood Elementary, the students were part of a technique that differentiates the instruction, according to the students' needs. She tailored the lesson so that the class would be able to learn the math, giving them the chance to understand the concepts in the classroom.

The fourth-grade class worked on subtracting multi-digit numbers with regrouping. Buenostro worked with a small group of students on the carpet and used manipulatives to build conceptual understanding. Some students were working in pairs using a place value chart as a tool while other students who didn't need manipulatives or tools were working in groups solving the math problems.

At Sequoia Elementary School, a third-grade class was participating in their English Language Development lesson on heroes in their community. Students were discussing how everyday individuals can be heroes.

Students used the Inquiry Tool. During the lesson, students were sharing ideas to engage in academic conversations.

Sentence frames were what was used to support students with a focus on their English Language Learners.

Sno White ready for business in town

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

It's always nice to have a choice when it comes to selecting a restaurant for a good burger.

Moving into a town with an already outstanding reputation for great food, Sno White offers a variety of menu options including burgers, chicken and salads.

Sno White is located at 727 6th Street. It is owned by Abdullah Ali and managed by his brother Zack.

"We replaced almost everything in the building," Ali said. "It had been here since the 1950s, and we spent anywhere from $50,000 to $70,000."

New floors, new appliances and a new layout are only part of the changes made at the longtime restaurant building. There is no longer a long counter as you enter, but instead a nice, bright spick and span yellow seating area. Because this is a family business, everyone pitched in to help make the changes, he said.

Ali's father arrived from Yemen in the 1970s and lived in Michigan, working for a major automotive company. He then moved to California and started Sno White in McFarland in the 1990s. When he opened the McFarland Sno White, he sent his boys back to Yemen to be with their mother because, he said, being a single father was difficult while opening a new business.

Ali graduated from Cal Poly where he also received his teaching credential. He is a chemistry and physics instructor at Robert F. Kennedy High School in Delano; however, he is currently constructing a new building in Delano and looks forward to deciding how to best use that space.

Traditionally, Sno White in McFarland was closed on Thanksgiving and Christmas; however, when Ali was in high school, he and his brother asked their father to keep the restaurant open on those two holidays. The boys said they would work both days and their dad agreed, and even offered them a certain percentage of the money brought

In a business article in the Sept. 23 edition, Escondalo Restaurant, formerly Teresa's at 441 F St., the article stated that the previous owners renovated the restaurant prior to selling it.

While the previous owners painted the inside of the restaurant and made changes, the Aguilar family renovated the inside by putting in preparation and handwashing sinks, redoing the floor, and repainting the inside of the building.

Push for testing and vaccination increases

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

A vaccination clinic was held over the weekend in Wasco at the old courthouse to help encourage residents to get vaccinated. The lines were long and the push for vaccinating everyone is becoming more important, the Kern County Public Health reported, since over 95% of those contracting the Delta virus with possibly deadly consequences are unvaccinated. The Kern County Public Health announced on Monday, Sept. 27, the latest covid-19 facts. Public Health Public Information Officer Michelle Corson stated there are 349 newly reported confirmed cases in Kern County, bringing the total of confirmed cases to date to 138,233. As of Sept. 27, there were no new deaths reported and a total of 1,540 covid-19 deaths have occurred since the pandemic began in March 2020. "As of Sept. 27, 787,180 doses of the COVID-19 vaccine have been administered to Kern County residents or 50% of Kern's eligible population has been fully vaccinated against COVID-19," Corson said. Also, as of Monday, Sept. 27, Kern County has 263 COVID-19 related hospitalizations and 74 are in ICU. On Monday, Sept. 27, Wasco had 6,134 infected people, up from 6,104 on Sept. 23. On Sept. 27, Shafter had 4,284 infected, down from 4,645 of Sept. 23. Because of the national increase in the demand for testing, the Department of Public Health has worked with the state to deploy three additional, new free COVID-19 testing sites. There is one in Bakersfield, one in Delano and one in Tehachapi. Also, COVID-19 testing is available as a free service to one of the county's mobile COVID-19 vaccination units. Visit www.kernpublichealth.com to view an interactive map of local testing locations.

Under a new Public Health Order, COVID-19 vaccine providers are now required request a patient's email address and mobile phone number for the state's immunization registry. This information allows My Vaccine Record to generate and send a secure link to individuals who request their digital vaccination records to replace lost of unavailable records or provide a portable and reliable vaccine verification. Vanguard Medical in Wasco, 845 7th St., is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. for vaccination services. They offer Pfizer, Moderna and BioNTech. Corson can be reached at 661-868-0288 for more information.

Local veterans take the trip of a lifetime

They were able to visit the Korean, Vietnam, and World War II memorials. They also visited the Arlington Cemetery, and watched the Changing of the Guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The veterans were also honored at a dinner one evening, receiving medals and awards from several different people. Reeves and Enns received flags that had been flown over the Capitol, given to them by Kevin McCarthy, House Republican leader.

There was also a special mail call on their flight home. Unbeknownst to the veterans, each vet had a bag of mail to open. Reeves and Enns had letters from old friends, a card from the City of Shafter, and letters from the local elementary schools. "I want to thank the city of Shafter, the elementary schools, the high school, everyone who made this trip so special. I will never forget it," said Reeves. Enns said that the trip holds a special place in his heart because of the welcome they received throughout the trip. "It is so different than the reception we got the first time when we returned from Vietnam," said Enns. Enns also mentioned that everyone was so helpful and informative. "Our driver was great, and the whole organization was just amazing, having everything so well organized," said Enns. Reeves said that he encourages any veteran that has a chance to go on an Honor Flight, to go. "You have to be vaccinated to go on the trip, but it is well worth it. This was truly a trip of a lifetime."

Air pollution causing problems for residents

TONI DEROSA
Wasco Tribune

While Arizona residents are dealing with extreme flooding, those in California are dealing with the result of too many fires, of which a by-product is smoke-filled air and ash floating down from the skies. All outdoor activities, including football games, were canceled due to the poor air quality last weekend. Those with any upper respiratory issues were recommended to stay indoors.

WASCO

The top five cities in the country with the worst annual air quality levels are all located in the state of California, which include Bakersfield, Fresno, Visalia, Los Angeles-Long Beach and San Jose-San Francisco-Oakland. The Kern County Pollution Index states that Bakersfield's high air pollution levels are due to the area's high-emission industries (such as agriculture and fossil-fuel based energy production), growing residential emissions and its geographic and climatic conditions, which cause polluted air to become trapped in the valley. One of the reasons Kern County suffers from so much bad air is the valley sits between mountain ranges and bad air gets caught as if it's in a pocket, unable to escape. While temperatures are cooling down, a fall rain would help with the pollution and the recent sprinkling of ash from the fires. Also, frequent wildfires with mountainous terrain trap pollution and a warm climate helps contribute to ozone formation giving additional challenges to California's air quality. When COVID-19 first hit the state and everyone was required to stay at home and isolate, with fewer drivers on the road, many commented that the air in Kern County was the clearest it had been in years and the skies were bright blue for the first time in a long time. At this time, an announcement has not been made regarding sporting events this coming weekend.

Leeman and Oli Mae Parker of Wasco met in 1955 at the Shafter Labor Camp and were married Sept. 27, 1956 -- and they are still happily together 65 years later. Leeman wore many hats before he retired from Wallace Machinery (now Quinn Co.) in 1992. Oli Mae spent their years together as a full-time homemaker. When their children were attending Wasco High School, you could always find the couple working to support the Wasco High ag department with their time and finances. They attend the Shafter Church of God and hold to the values of God, family and country. Their union blessed them with four children, seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Through the years family and friends knew that if they needed help or a car worked on, they could call on Leeman and he was always willing to lend a hand. Now days, you will find Leeman and Oli Mae enjoying dinner out or shopping with their daughter Linda, and as often as they can, attending their grandkids' ball games. If you want to catch Leeman for a chat, you will need to show up at Tiger Mart or Café 101 early in the morning, where he meets up with his cronies to discuss world events, local business and anything else that crops up.

The Wasco High FFA students had a packed month after the annual Charles Craig Classic Sept. 10-12 and then the Kern County Fair.

At the annual Charles Craig Classic, the students who raised animals were able to get specific points from judges on how to improve their chances of placing at the Kern County Fair.

The Kern County Fair officially opened on Wednesday, Sept. 22. Wasco High School FFA students were near the back of the livestock areas.

Judging at the fair occurred Saturday and Sunday. One day the animals were judged based on their weight and girth as well as their posture. Most of the animals had to hold their heads up. In addition, the animals had to form a square with their hoofs while standing still.

Students were judged on how well they handled their animals, how well the animals followed their handler's maneuvers and how well the animal presented itself.

Most of the handlers confessed that their animal was very stubborn at the beginning.

"Getting the goats and sheep to form a square with their legs as they are standing is something that needs to start at the very beginning of training," student Layla Duran said. "If you don't train your animal on the table to stand still in a square formation, it becomes hard to have them place their hoofs correctly."

Duran also said that her lamb, Oliver, took Third Place at Market at the fair. The judging is based on the moving parts of the animal such as the body and muscle.

"Oliver wasn't easy," Duran said. "He likes to pull me around."

Duran also said that the two are totally bonded now and he pays attention to her. Oliver was judged on his natural breed.

Duran, like many others, said that she likes the memories made with other members of her FFA chapter. "It's very comforting," she added.

Duran hopes to attend Fresno State to become a livestock veterinarian.

2022 Rose Queen Ixchel Sanchez has raised goats all four years while at WHS. Since she lives on a farm, her animals are raised at her home.

She said that it has been difficult at times putting all her time into raising the animals. However, she does make some time for herself by crafting (creating things) and she also runs cross country.

Sanchez raised two goats this year, one female, Macchiato, and one male, Habanero.

Another student Jackelyn Villanueva raised her male goat, Oliver.

"I have a lot of fun because I go to the farm and play with the goats," Villanueva said.

Villanueva said that her favorite part of the fair is the team bonding that takes place.

"On Saturday, all the students with goats went out and had dinner together," Villanueva said. She added that Oliver took 4th place in showmanship at the fair.

Junior Issac Ruddell, Jr. has raised swine for three years and plans on continuing next year. His pig's name is Chloe.

Ruddell took a different approach to bonding with his animal. He started to touch Chloe only after she had been on the farm for a week. He wanted her to get used to being on the farm and his presence.

Ruddell said that while a student pays for all the food for their FFA animal, students hope to make it back when their animal is auctioned off by getting a good price for when the auction takes place Oct. 2 at the fairgrounds.

"Chloe was very stubborn for the first two weeks I had her," Ruddell said. "After a week of not touching her, I began trying to train her for two weeks and then gave her a week off." He said that once she had the time off between training, she became easier to work with.

The swine handlers use a whip to assist in training their animal.

"We gently tap them on the backs of their legs whichever direction we want them to go," he said.

Ruddell also added that Chloe was Champion of Gilt Breeding at the Charles Craig Classic.

"I want to go to Reedley Community College," Ruddell said. "They have a good ag program."

Suspect arrested after traffic stop leads to car chase

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

A routine traffic stop turned into a car chase through the outskirts of Shafter that ended in front of the suspect's residence in the city.

On Friday night, at approximately 8 p.m., an officer from the Shafter Police Department attempted to stop a vehicle that had run a stop sign at the intersection of Fresno and Poplar avenues, officers said.

SHAFTER

The driver, later identified as Christopher Sergio Acosta, 42, failed to stop, and led officers on a lengthy pursuit through the outskirts of the city and then back into Shafter, where he stopped in front of his residence.

After refusing to come out of the vehicle for about 25 minutes, he was taken into custody without further incident, officers said. The Kern County Sheriff's helicopter assisted by monitoring the pursuit.

According to police, Acosta violated several vehicle codes during the pursuit, but his speeds were not excessive for the outlying areas. Acosta was booked at the Kern County Central Receiving Facility. He was charged with evading, driving with a suspended license, possession of marijuana while driving, and obstructing.

however, as soon as they passed the ticket takers, masks came off and put in pockets.

The food vendors were lined up around the entrance into the fairgrounds. There were different options such as baked potatoes, barbeque beef sandwiches, fries, water and sweets such as cinnamon buns, licorice whips and an array of sodas.

Aside from the fairgrounds being empty Monday and Tuesday, attendance appeared high when it was open to the public on the other days.

There was a decrease in displays such as small communities representing their city. Lamont and Arvin both usually put up a display spotlighting their cities; however, they weren't at the fair this year.

The numbers of entrants in the cooking/baking/demonstration booths were also limited. Some canned and preserved food items were visible at the fair, but not in either of the buildings viewed.

First place baked goods.

Charles Matthews Wedel
Nov. 15, 1954 –
Sept. 27, 2021

Charles Matthews Wedel, of Wasco, was called to the Lord on Sept. 27, 2021. Chuck was born in Wasco on Nov. 14, 1954, to Larry and Judy Wedel. Wasco is where he would find the love of his life, Mickie Wedel. Charles and Mickie married on Sept. 1, 1972, and went on to have four amazing sons, Jeff, Jeremy, Nick and Chris.

He is preceded in death by his father, Larry Wedel, and sisters Carol and Constance Wedel. Charles is survived by his mother, Judy Wedel; sisters Cherrie and Cindy; wife of 48 years Mickie Wedel; sons Jeff (Sonia), Jeremy (Amanda), Nick (Angie) and Chris (Valerie); grandchildren Kyle, Madison, Braedon, Brody, Charlie, Braxton, RJ, Rose, Carson and Max; and many more friends and family.

Charles worked in agriculture for over 35 years. He farmed it all: cotton, alfalfa, wheat, almonds, corn; you name it, he could grow it. He worked at Global Fabricators for a little over a year, but he soon found farming once again working alongside his best friend, Courtney Howard. Once retired, he was known as the one-stop shop to fix anything and everything. If it couldn't be fixed, it was because it was manufactured by a communist.

Charles was known by many as Chuck, Chuckie poo, Cliff Claven of the group, but his most famous name of all was Papa. As good a farmer as he was, his favorite job of all was being a father and grandfather. He was the best dad/grandpa a family could ask for. Opinions varied on his babysitting techniques, but in his words, he was OUTSTANDING!!

Often Chuck could be found at his favorite watering holes: the North 40, The Victory Cafe and the pizza parlor. Charles made sure to donate his time to organizations such as Pyles Boys Camp, Sheriff's Posse, and the 20/30 Club.

The Wedel family wants to thank everyone for the love and support that has been shown toward our loving husband, father and Papa. A special thank you to Courtney Howard for being Chuck's lifelong friend. Our family will be forever grateful.

A memorial service for Chuck will be held at the Shafter/Wasco Elks Lodge Friday, Oct. 1, beginning at noon.

Generals stay unbeaten in SSL play

JAMIE STEWART
The Shafter Press

The Shafter High Generals were perfect in SSL play on Friday night, playing arguably the most complete game of their season to date, beating the Taft Wildcats by a score of 34-13.

The Generals have already had some impressive games this season, but there is usually a phase of the game that dominates the contest.

On Friday night, in every phase of the game offense and defense each stepped up and did their part in the victory.

Shafter started strong in the first quarter, scoring a rushing touchdown when Devon Sundgren took it in from about six yards out, giving the Generals a 7-0 lead.

SHAFTER

The Generals' defense played another stellar game, keeping the powerful Wildcats offense in check for most of the first half. When they weren't chasing the quarterback in the backfield, the Shafter defense was shutting the Wildcats' running game down on several series.

The Shafter offense took advantage of the opportunities and scored two more times in the first half, one of which was an impressive run by junior Koa Rhodes. Rhodes has come on in the last couple of weeks to give the Generals a depth in the offense that they were lacking earlier in the season.

Both defenses play a smash-mouth type of defense, with the Wildcats trading punches with the Generals.

But, the Generals were able to answer those blows with knock-out strikes of their own, including several successes in third-down situations.

Before the half was over, the Generals had amassed a 20-7 lead. Taft attempted to pull even with the Generals as they scored on their first possession of the second half. But, as had been the case most of the evening, Shafter's Sundgren and company gave the road warriors another double digit lead as they went up by a score of 27-13. The rest of the way, it was a superlative performance by the Generals' defense. The defensive 11 thwarted Wildcat drives with outstanding play by the line, along with superb play by the defensive backs. The line was led by Olaniyan Tatum and Simon Vanderpool, with great support by the backfield including Elijah Lucero and Armando Loera.

The Generals will try to remain perfect in league play on Friday night, when they take on the McFarland Cougars at Centennial High School.

in. "Working those two holidays brought in more money than any other day of the year," Ali said. The restaurants now regularly open those two holidays.

Ali's 15-year-old son helps out in the restaurants in McFarland and also Porterville. It's a family business and everyone pitches in.

What makes Ali happy is being able to spend his spare time with his five children. Employee Valerie Ramirez works the front counter, where she greets customers with a pleasant smile.

Ramirez is a student at the Wonderful Ag Academy. After graduation, she plans on attending either the University of Hawaii in Honolulu, Cal State Long Beach or University of Santa Barbara with hopes of obtaining a degree in psychology.

The restaurant is open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and can be reached by calling (661) 392-5777.

Tigers aiming for place versus Kennedy

LAMONT GRIDIRON
Wasco Tribune

This Friday, the Tigers (4-0, 1 -0 in the South Sequoia League) will travel to Delano to compete in their second conference game in a first-place match-up against Kennedy High (4 -1, 1-0).

Just like the Tigers, the Thunderbird have beaten opponents by large margins.

Both teams feature running games and a high-powered offense that puts points on the board quickly. Both teams feature solid defensive strategies that force opponents to multiple three-and-outs.

More importantly, both teams' strategies are to control the tempo and pace of the game from the scrimmage line and keep possession of the ball.

The game is a big one for Wasco. "The next game is the most important," Wasco coach Chad Martinez emphasized weeks ago.

For Kennedy, senior Avian Pesina is averaging 158 rushing yards per game along, with a total of 11 touchdowns.

Senior Hugo Morta has run for a total of 551 yards so far this season, punching in 4 TDs.

"It is going to be a defensive battle -- who is going to stop who," said former Wasco running back and sideline supporter Quentin Cheatham.

Since Friday night high school football returned in August, the Tigers have proven they are a competitive football team in the SSL.

In their four games, senior running back Omar Tovar has averaged 112 rushing yards per game and scoring a total of four touchdowns.

"The ultimate goal is to have a perfect season," Tovar said after the Tigers defeated McFarland 50 -6. "Our confidence is high, but we're humble."

Senior Sean Sharpe has scored four touchdowns, including two rushing. Senior Azai Ferguson has rushed for three TDs.

Senior quarterback Jacob Ruiz has passed for an average of 113 yards per game, including touchdown passes to Sharpe, Ferguson, Collin Dickson and Eli Vasquez.

Ruiz has said Wasco high football is about grounding and pounding, taking them to play on a high level, to the top of the standings.

Coming into the season, Wasco began the 2021 campaign with a goal of winning a South Sequoia League division title and CIF Division IV state title.

Wasco's No. 2 Omar Tovar and No. 5 Sean Sharpe

"We don't have a limit to what we can accomplish," Martinez said. "We have a good combination of talent."

The players have the same idea.

"I like to hit (play defense) on the playing field," said senior linebacker Brayan Ruiz said. "We are looking forward to making the playoffs and winning a ring."
